KINDER REPORT

Now there are eight beautiful little Kinder workers! We welcomed Abigail into our Kinder/Prep class this week and we are enjoying many fun activities with her. Last week we learnt that inchworm reads “i, i, i” and we made an igloo with an icecream container and white marshmallows.

Student of the Week

Dante Shaw – for being a willing helper

Look at our humongous class!

PREP REPORT

Our new double sound for this week was “wh” and so we went to the whip shop! We were interested in watching Simon and William make whips, but we had the most fun trying on hats and looking at all the different types of leather. Simon made the boys some funny leather moustaches and the girls looked like real cowgirls with their hats on! We enjoyed watching Simon crack the whips and we think that he is better at it than Miss Martin! A big thank you to the great workers at Simon Martin Whips and Leathercraft!

Student of the Week

Ethan Martin– for being patient and willing to wait his turn
